From Albion to Shangri-La is an important book for anyone from the post-Nirvana, Generation X Factor decade who dreamt of celebrity and fame but were too frightened or sensible to pursue it. Peter Doherty and his contemporaries (like Amy Winehouse and Peaches Geldof who are both free-styling contributors to the book) epitomised the nihilism of the noughties.

From Albion to Shangri-La ()

'From Albion to Shangri-La' is the first truly revealing autobiographical account of this enigma. Peter's previous book consisted of facsimiles of pages from earlier journals. About his own paradoxical character, Peter writes 'I will be found a stranger in my own skin. Wonder how I ever let myself in?'
